

National Day of Writing

Celebrating the Power of Language

Friday, October 18, 2019 | 10am-1pm
Worsham Theater, Gatton Student Center
University of Kentucky

We invite your high school seniors, to the University of Kentucky campus, to celebrate the National Day on Writing and to learn about professional and career opportunities in writing.

Our students go on to careers in publishing, professional writing, writing for specific industries, health writing, social media, content management, law school, technical writing, writing for gaming and entertainment industries, lobbying, speech and grant writing, and other jobs.

Students will have the opportunity to:

1. Hear professionals in a range of disciplines discuss the significance of writing to their work.
2. Explore the resources available to students on campus, including our Writing Center and Media Depot.
3. Discuss courses and opportunities available on campus with current faculty and students.

Join us for speakers, prizes, games, and our beautiful campus in celebration of the written word!

Schools should plan to provide transportation. Students can bring bagged lunches or enjoy the food choices available in our Student Center.

RSVP to brandy.scalise@uky.edu

Sponsored by

The Department of Writing, Rhetoric and Digital Studies
wr.d.as.uky.edu

The Department of English
english.as.uky.edu

